Bangkok (14 October 2020) — Tetra Pak, a world-leading processing and packaging solutions company, participated in the 4th Sustainability for Business Forum (SBF20), organised by The Multi-Chamber of Commerce led by the Franco-Thai Chamber of Commerce, Netherlands-Thai Chamber of Commerce and Thai-Swedish Chamber of Commerce. The half-day event provided expertise and networking opportunities for Thailand-based businesses to support and promote their sustainability engagements under the latest topics in responding to the COVID-19 pandemic for a ‘Green Recovery’.

Tetra Pak joined the “Food of the Future” panel discussion. The panel discussion focused on innovation, sustainable supply chains and viable agriculture that results in safer, healthier food for consumers; increased farming community income and company profits; and reduced climate risks for all. During the discussion, Bert Jan Post, Managing Director of Tetra Pak (Thailand) Limited shared his insights on the company’s approach to bringing food from where it is produced to where it is consumed. He also talked about the importance of understanding consumer trends as the basis of innovation, and Tetra Pak’s journey in delivering the most sustainable food packaging.
