Tired of complex settings, inconsistent film quality and supplier hassles?

Losing output due to complex settings, frequent stops and costly rework?

Is it time consuming and difficult to find and manage a reliable film supplier?

Need to minimise use of virgin oil plastic wherever possible?

If you're facing any of these challenges, we have good news for you. Read on to learn how quality film with high recycled content from a reliable supplier will help you solve these challenges, boost output and capture savings.

Boost output, capture savings

How? Our solution combines consistent quality film made with 50% post-consumer recycled (PCR) content and easy, reliable supply. This adds up to big advantages for you.

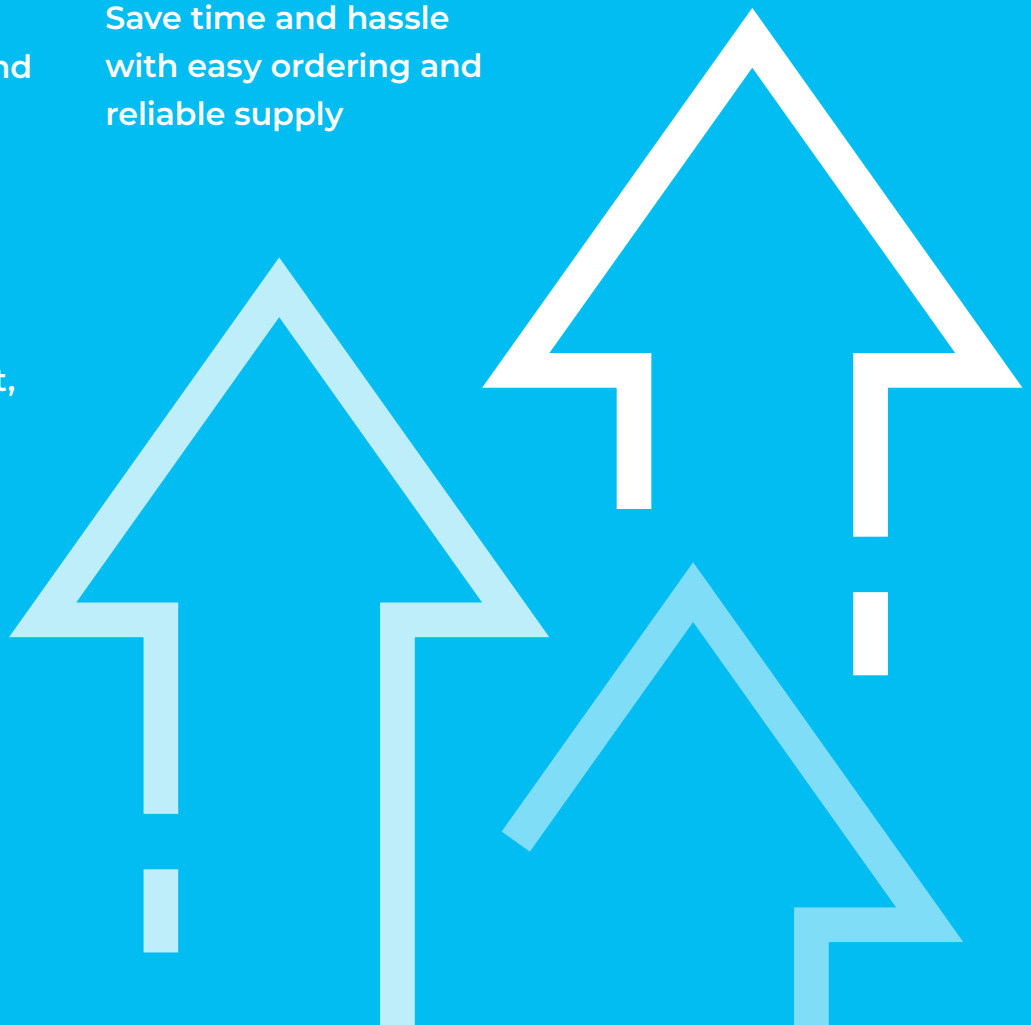

Secure high, reliable uptime and output – and lower costs

Save time and hassle with easy ordering and reliable supply

Shrink carbon footprint, meet demands and avoid plastic taxes

Higher output, lower costs

Consistent high-quality film from certified supplier gives you high, reliable uptime and output – and lower costs. Look forward to more consistent desired film appearance and functionality, fewer stops and less costly rework.

Increase uptime

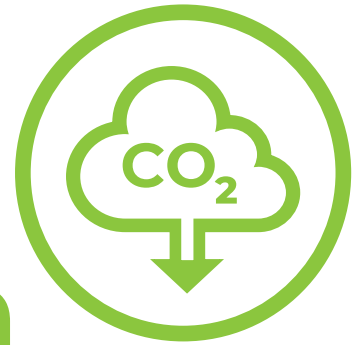

Reduce cost

Eliminate plastic taxes

Shrink your carbon footprint

Global food systems today account for more than one-third of global greenhouse gas emissions, contributing to climate change. Replacing virgin oil plastic with recycled plastic content wherever possible in food packaging is one way to collaborate across the food value chain to decarbonise food systems.
